

Upsi Daisy

Tagline: How dirty hippies get clean

Force for Change

Rosemary–Peppermint Soap

You like to shake things up, but it's hard to be the change you want to see in the world if you can't keep your eyes open. Lather up with Force for Change and get a blast of positive energy! Soothing shea butter refreshes dry skin, while invigorating peppermint and rosemary essential oils give you the clarity to begin strategizing right in the shower. If only raising global awareness were so easy ...

Hights of Passion

Patchouli–Cinnamon Soap

Wondering what happened to free love? Maybe you should rethink your strategy. Rediscover your sensual side with Hights of Passion and get back in the game! Generous helpings of shea butter will leave your skin soft and supple, and the seductive fragrances of patchouli and cinnamon are time-honored natural aphrodisiacs. Trust us: before long, you'll be hugging more than trees.

Purple Peacemaker

Lavender–Tea Tree Oil Soap

Underground movements are often the catalysts for huge social change. In the case of your skin, however, they usually lead to breakouts and oil slicks. How to quell the uprising? Purple Peacemaker's tea tree essential oil works as a natural astringent to cleanse and soothe rioting pores, while dried organic lavender gently scrubs away your skin's old status quo. Go on, open up a dialogue—it's time for you and your skin to be at peace.

Hang Loose

Vanilla–Chamomile Soap

Life is complicated, but fragrances don't have to be. Unwind with Hang Loose and let your mind drift to a simpler time. Calming chamomile oil is infused with warm vanilla for a scent that's sweet and familiar, and our shea butter base will imbue your skin with childlike softness. Speaking of little ones, our mild aromatherapeutic formula is safe for them as well. After all, there's no sense making bathtime more complicated than it needs to be.

Happy Peels

Lemon–Ginger Soap

Stuck in a funk? Lather up with Happy Peels and rinse your grumps right down the drain! Uplifting lemon oil and revitalizing ginger extract renew the spirit, while grated lemon peel exfoliates to leave you glowing. You'll be feeling groovy again in no time.